

NUAGE À 90°

Press Release

Begin experience

Nuage à 90° is a digital experience developed around the homonymous short film written and directed by Maxime Grayt in 2014.

Through April's eyes, the main character, we dive into a suffocating world questioning the human condition and the whims of our contemporary society. Between dream and reality, this superstitious young man is heading to a dark and ominous future.

The interactive website Nuage à 90° offers an alternative to the traditional approach to short films, creating a more comprehensive and participatory universe. This experience allows a gradual immersion and acclimate the user to the mood of the film before viewing.

This platform allows visitors to discover the different actors of this project and their expertise, thanks to a dedicated page listing their personal websites.
